CITY OF ASHKHABAD

1. Since the majority of the buildings in the city of Ashkhabad (N 37-57, E 58-23), Ashkhabadskaya oblast, TURKSSR, had been destroyed by an earthquake in 1948 there were many temporary frame dwellings in the city during the period covered by this report. The buildings under construction during this period were a maximum of three stories high; they were of brick with concrete columns reinforced with iron rods.
